

Privacy Statement

Axis Injury Management strictly adheres to the National Privacy Principles set out in the Privacy Act 1988. These principles are applied to the handling, collection, use, storage and disclosure of all client information.

In the course of working with you or your business we may collect personal or sensitive information for the purpose of assisting with the management of workplace injuries or other services provided by Axis Injury Management. We may also collect personal information such as dates of birth, e-mail addresses, phone numbers, postal addresses, and other personal and medical information.

We endeavor to ensure the security of the information we collect, and take all reasonable measures to ensure it is not misused, lost, modified or disclosed to unauthorized parties.

You may request access to the personal information we have collected, subject to exemptions listed in the Privacy legislation and relevant legislation and other guidelines, by contacting our Privacy Officer.

If you have any questions regarding the protection of your personal information please contact our Privacy Officer.

Disclaimer

Axis Injury Management make no warranties or representations about this website or its content. To the extent permitted by law, any liability which may arise as a result of the use of this website, its content or information is excluded. Where liability cannot be excluded, any liability incurred by Axis Injury Management in relation to the use of this website is limited as provided under the Trade Practices Act 1974. Axis Injury Management will not be liable for any direct, indirect, consequential or special loss arising out of the use of this website, including loss of business profits.

Axis Injury Management makes all reasonable attempts to ensure the website remains free of viruses. We make no warranty and disclaim any liability for any loss resulting or arising from the presence of viruses at this website, its web pages or any links related to this site.